"We chose ReviewSolicitors over other competitors simply because it was sector-specific. Reviews are very much part of the client's journey. Reviews are really important to our clients as it reassures them that the firm they're dealing with has the ability to deal with their matter.

We also have the ReviewSolicitors widget on our website which helps install trust with potential clients."

ReviewSolicitors is a great platform for our clients to be able to leave their reviews regarding their experience of using our services.

ReviewSolicitors is also a useful service for us, as a business, as our clients can request callbacks from their caseworker which is easier than calling the office. In addition, they are really helpful when it comes to reporting any issues that clients may have as we can resolve them quicker.

Overall, they are a great and efficient website to use!

All our clients are given an opportunity to review how they felt about the service they received, and this helps the business identify ways in which we may need to improve.

I chose ReviewSolicitors over other competitors for a number of reasons. The first is their interface and how easy it is to operate. The second is their integration with Google reviews.

The percentage of clients that are happy to leave Lockings reviews through ReviewSolicitors is somewhere in the order of 35% to 40%.

We're very impressed with how it's going with ReviewSolicitors. I'm really pleased with the response date and also the feedback that we're receiving through ReviewSolicitors with their independent validation

We believe that reviews are here to stay in the legal profession and it gives us another tool to listen to our clients. The team has been really helpful and worked closely with us to ensure we get the most out of the system. The portal itself is easy to navigate and our solicitors find it easy and efficient to request client reviews.

It provides clients with a simple way of rating our service rather than using Google reviews (where they need a Gmail account). However, the integration still pulls those Google reviews in to provide a full picture.

It has provided us with valuable insight into our clients' views on our services and we would recommend ReviewSolicitors to any legal firms looking to improve services and client experience.

“ In this day and age, very few clients will instruct a law firm without first reading online reviews. Over the years, lots of our clients had positive things to say about our service, but nowhere to say it! For this reason, I began to work with ReviewSolicitors. I have found the platform to be an essential tool in providing new or existing clients with reliable and trustworthy reviews.

As part of the package, I was allocated an account manager who I can contact by email or telephone. If ever an issue arises, my account manager is on hand to help. In my experience, the service has been fantastic.

More recently, I established a new firm. To help it gain traction, I have set up a profile on ReviewSolicitors and began collecting reviews online. I have already noticed an increase in online enquiries.

I cannot recommend ReviewSolicitors enough to my fellow legal practitioners and business owners alike.

Essential for modern law firms. Law Firms need to adjust to becoming client-focused and ReviewSolicitors is the perfect platform for lawyers to gather reviews from clients in a non-intrusive and legitimate way.

Speaking from the perspective of a law firm who started trading a couple of years ago, we have been able to establish credibility by having an independent forum for clients to look at the positive reviews that we receive.

ReviewSolicitors is a ‘must-have’ for any law firm that really cares about its clients. In a world where there is so much choice, it is important for prospective consumers to be able to make an informed decision when seeking legal advice.

The positive reviews that we’ve received have gone a long way in establishing our credibility and online reputation, giving any potential client the confidence they need when choosing a firm to represent them. ReviewSolicitors has transformed our business and we would highly recommend them to any law firm looking to make a difference.
